

TIGRR

Training in Grantsmanship for Rehabilitation Research

This 4-day workshop provides the expertise and support to be successful at the national level in obtaining research grant support. TIGRR offers:

- New This Year: Session on recruiting diverse populations for your study
- One-on-one mentorship
- Reviews of your proposal by mentors and peer mentees
- Assistance in writing a proposal
- Meeting with funding representatives (individually and in group settings)
- Guidance on the right funding mechanisms that fit your plans
- Direction on funding application processes
- And more!

Testimonial:

"TIGRR not only provided specific and relevant training in the art of developing and crafting a research proposal, but also addressed the critical elements of identifying the appropriate mechanism and institution, as well as the common barriers and pitfalls specific to emerging investigators. Whether you came here to work on a K award, a pilot study application, or an R01, there is something for everyone here. No other training workshop has provided such amazing access to experienced content and review experts as well as funding representatives--so, so glad I attended!"

APPLICATION DATES:

July 2 - August 8, 2018

DATES OF WORKSHOP:

January 8 - 12, 2019

LOCATION:

Wild Dunes Resort
Isle of Palms, South Carolina

CONTACT:

Laura Reid, Administrative Coordinator
reidlau@musc.edu
843-792-6505

The TIGRR Workshop is funded by
NIH/NICHHD grant number
2R25HD074546-07.

TIGRR is a workshop at the Medical University of South Carolina.

WWW.MUSC.EDU/TIGRR